Permits required

A Study Permit is required for anyone studying in Canada for longer than six months. You also need a Co-op Work Permit in order to complete the required placement hours for your degree. Processing times vary per country. Please allow enough time to obtain both permits.

Please visit the Government of Canada, Immigration and Citizenship website, cic.gc.ca, to learn how to obtain a Study Permit and a Co-op Work Permit for your university education. Please become aware of global travel advisories and rules for travel to other countries for students.

Post-Graduation Work Permit

After graduating from a program that meets the requirements, you can apply for a Post-Graduation Work Permit (PGWP), which may be issued for a duration equivalent to the length of your program or up to a maximum of three years.

Off campus

Whether you choose to live alone or share your housing, you can make your decision based on:

Type of accommodation. Toronto offers different types of accommodation, including apartments, condominiums, townhouses and detached homes.

Neighbourhood. What do you want in the area where you live? Familiar culture, restaurants, libraries, parks, transit, residential or downtown?

Distance. Do you want to drive to campus, use public transit or walk?

If you choose to live off campus in Toronto, check out humber.ca/student-life/offcampuslife for guidance.

Living in a Living Learning Community (LLC) is an incredible opportunity to be part of a community that shares the same interests as you! Opportunities have included exploring and practising leadership styles, cooking nutritious meals and Lunch and Learn workshops with faculty members. Research also shows that being a member of an LLC helps to improve academic success and work habits.”
