00:00-00:29	[Interview shot of Malik] “Ever since I was a kid I always loved sports and then naturally playing sports I had injuries. I remember I was about 13 I went to the physiotherapy for the first time and they did their whole magic, what I thought was magic, and they fixed me up made me better and I thought it was really cool. Watching sports as well I always saw athletes when they got hurt they always went down and whenever I was looking at that athlete I was watching the guy run on the field and like make them better, do that magic. So I wanted to be that guy that ran on the field and I knew Kin would be that path so pretty much from grade 8 I knew that I want to do Kinesiology - be that guy that runs on the field.”

00:33-00:49	[Interview shot of Malik] “The University of Guelph-Humber played a huge part in me kind of getting to where I am right now. A big part of it is the placement... so I was actually at an event hosted by the University of Guelph-Humber about two years ago where I met the owner of SportSide Medical and then from there I met her and we kind of networked and I started my placement there.”
00:49-1:03	[Shots of Malik conducting medical procedures] “When I completed my placement I got a job in the clinic and I've been working at the clinic ever since. For a Kin student thinking about taking our Kin program at the University of Guelph-Humber... really awesome experience. You're getting 240 hours of placement in the program...”

“...you get to work in a cadaver lab so it takes it from being just theoretical to actually working with...”

[Malik stretches out a patient]

“...a body, when you graduate you get a degree and a diploma which kind of separates you from everyone else so when you're looking to go into the field...”

“...you have all that experience behind you as well as your credentials. I love being close to the action...”

[Shots of Malik Preparing for a big game]

“...it's a lot of fun...like being sideline is definitely the best view and I get to go out there and do my part help the team out and win. It's nice to take somebody that's injured and worried about what's going on with their health and get them back to being better especially if it's an athlete letting them know that they'll be able to return to play and keep...”

“If I was stuck on a desert island and I could only take one album...probably would take "Dvsn" uh, definitely "SEPT. 5TH" album... great album, saw them live twice...got real into my feels, so it was good. When I finished my last exam I went to work...I went back to the clinic. Top junk food? I can't answer that as a Kin student. Favourite athlete though? Geez I can't even think of one it's so weird maybe Bo Jackson because he played two sports...not for long but he played two sports. Les Mis...I can sing the whole thing, all three hours of it. Oh Beaver Tail, Beaver Tail, favourite junk food, final answer!”
