- Consider borrowing books on the MCAT from Career & Placement Services, and look into preparation courses if possible (costs for preparation courses may vary)
- For more information on the MCAT and to apply to write, visit <https://www.aamc.org/students/applying/mcat/>

Multiple Mini-Interview (MMI):

- Multiple Mini Interview is an interview format that consists of a series of short, carefully timed interview stations in an attempt to draw multiple samples of applicant's ability to think on their feet, critically appraise information, communicate their ideas, and demonstrate that they have thought about some of the issues that are important to the medical profession.
- Each station focuses on a different skill set or knowledge base that is important for success in medical school and the medical profession
- Used by McMaster, Western, The Northern Ontario School of Medicine

What does a successful applicant look like?

- Extremely high grades –competitive grades are in the mid 90's
- A history of extra-curricular involvement in several leadership and volunteer roles
- Genuine motivation to help people
- Strong ethical principles
- Ability to handle high volumes of stress and endure long hours of work in potentially adverse conditions
