- Masters completion is 1-3 years. Part-time programs can take longer
- Choose between thesis & research based, course based, course+internship, course+capstone, major research paper, entryway to Ph.D, professional programs

• Finding Thesis Supervisor

Find supervisor (sometimes supervisor is assigned to you)

- Research faculty's research interests, teaching style, professional expertise in the field, how many students they have supervised, publication history
- Read the potential supervisor's published work
- Contact the chosen supervisor/s during your application process, to find out if they are accepting students. Make sure school allows this!
- Choose carefully, as you'd be working closely with this supervisor
- Reach out to your Graduate Program Director for general program info
- Approach faculty via email- initial step or through campus/department tour

• Thesis Process (simplified)

- Find topic and get it approved
- Conduct research: be well acquainted with existing scholarly works and journals
- Original critical analysis
- Write thesis: 35,000 words max, 130 pages
- Review
- Defend thesis in front of committee of 2-3 people(depending on program), to graduate

• Major Research Paper

- Not as long as a Thesis: about 60 pages, 15,000 words *check guidelines for each school**
- More about providing critical analysis of existing theories
- Could be original work but not necessarily
- Still need to work independently or with a co-author in a scholarly manner.
- Supervised by Faculty
- You need to take more courses than in a Thesis program

• Course-Based Masters

- Taking only courses
- Still need to write papers for your courses
- Field Placement component (sometimes)
- Capstone Project
- Appropriate for working professionals/professional career progression

• How To Choose?

- Academic Skills – Do I like papers, theory, analysis, debating?
- Grades- Do I have the grades required for admission?
- Professional Skills – Do I have the grounding for the skills in this profession?
- Research – Am I interested in doing further research? Do I have a new idea?
- Topic – Do I want to know more about this field? What do I want to specialize in?
- Career planning- do I need a graduate degree to advance in my career field? To work in management level?
- Time- Am I able to put in the time behind this degree?
- Money- Am I able to afford this?
